Manuscript received April 23, 2025; accepted for publication April 30, 2025; published online July 2, 2025. Issue published September 1, 2025.

After publication of this guest-edited "Special Section on Advanced Intelligence in Information Science and Communication Systems," concerns were raised about the peer review process for the papers in this special section.

Following an investigation undertaken by the publisher according to the guidelines of the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE), and after review by the ASTM Committee on Publications, we have determined that the papers cited below that published within the special section were accepted on the basis of a compromised peer review process. We hereby retract the papers.

Reasonable effort should be made to remove references to the papers. The corresponding authors, as the representative of all authors, have been notified of the retraction, and we have kept a record of any responses received.
